VI. Research funding	09/2009 - now	-Name: INSERM, FRM, and Vaincre la Mucoviscidose (Paris); University Lille 2 and the Conseil Régional du Nord Pas de Calais (Lille)	The research topic of our team is nutritional modulation of infection and inflammation. We are studying the mechanisms of action and regulation of nutritional factors in situations of inflammation and infection. Our hypotheses are that new nutritional components (mainly issued from breast milk) could influence: (i) the immune system (gene expression) early in life and prevent and/or modulate inflammatory diseases later in life, (ii) the course of inflammatory and/or infectious disease such as inflammatory bowel disease and cystic fibrosis. Our aim is to understand at different periods of prenatal and postnatal development the mechanisms by which nutritional components can influence future health and prevent/treat inflammatory diseases. The public funds received by our team (INSERM, FRM, Vaincre la Mucoviscidose, Conseil Régional du Nord-Pas de Calais) are used to support this research topic.
	01/2009 - now	-Name: Danone and Nestlé	Funding by Danone of research projects representing #10% of the annual budget of the research laboratory of the Pediatric GI Unit, Department of Paediatrics, Faculty of Medicine, University Lille 2, Lille, France. I am not the director of the research lab and I have no personal interest. Topic of research: Effect of nutrients (omega 3) on inflammation and infection in an animal model.
